

THE INN AT NEWPORT RANCH

Fort Bragg, California, United States

THE INN AT NEWPORT RANCH lies just north of Fort Bragg. Our accommodations were in Redwood House, which contains the property's three suites. Twenty-four redwood trunks support the structure, starting from the lower level and rising up through the suites to the roof. Out on the balcony we discovered a wooden soaking tub from which it became our habit to sit and gaze at the night sky while listening to the sea. Back at the main inn we discovered a dining table made from a single piece of solid redwood, a floor made with 30-inch-wide redwood planks and a huge stone hearth. We returned in the morning for breakfast, tucking into pillowy pancakes and bacon-wrapped eggs cooked in muffin tins. The activity not to miss is the ATV safari. During the course of a three-hour tour, we really came to appreciate the scope of the property, which sits on an uninterrupted mile of oceanfront bluffs.
